Choosing Colours for Your Kitchen

Silas7 – Colour Guidance, Guarantees & Aftercare

Choosing the right colour for your kitchen is an important part of your renovation. The following guidance from Silas7 is designed to help you make confident choices and achieve a kitchen that looks exceptional and performs beautifully for everyday life.

Consider the Light in Your Home

Light levels vary greatly in UK homes and can significantly affect how colours appear.

Kitchens with limited natural light often suit warmer neutrals and softer tones.

Bright, south-facing kitchens can accommodate cooler or deeper colours.

We recommend viewing your chosen colour card in your kitchen at different times of day.

Think Long Term

A kitchen is a long-term investment. Many Silas7 customers choose:

Timeless neutral colours for main cabinetry.

Bolder or darker colours for islands, tall units or feature areas.

This approach keeps the space versatile while allowing personality and contrast.

Worktops, Flooring & Surrounding Finishes

Cabinet colours should work in harmony with other surfaces:

Warm timber or stone flooring pairs well with cream, beige and warm grey tones.

Cool tiles or concrete finishes complement cooler greys and muted colours.

Heavily patterned or bold worktops are best balanced with simpler cabinet colours.

Where possible, we recommend selecting flooring and worktops before finalising cabinet colours.

Accents & Hardware

Smaller details help bring the design together:

Handles, taps and appliances introduce contrast and texture.

Black, brushed brass or stainless steel finishes can subtly change how a cabinet colour appears.

Your chosen cabinet colour should complement these elements rather than compete with them.

Natural Wood & Painted Finishes

Combining painted cabinetry with natural timber adds warmth and depth.

Timber works beautifully on islands, pantries or open shelving

Lighter woods create a modern, airy feel.

Darker woods add richness and contrast.

This balance often results in a refined, high-end finish.

Silas7 2K Spray Finish

All Silas7 cabinets are finished using a professional 2K spray system, providing:

A smooth, furniture-grade finish.

Excellent durability and resistance to moisture and everyday wear.

Consistent colour and sheen across all cabinetry.

Our Guarantee

Silas7 cabinetry is finished to the highest standard.

Our 2K sprayed finishes are designed for long-term durability in a kitchen environment.

We stand by the quality of our workmanship and materials.

Full guarantee details are provided with your project documentation.

Aftercare & Maintenance

To keep your Silas7 kitchen looking its best:

Clean surfaces with a soft cloth and mild detergent.

Avoid abrasive cleaners, scouring pads or harsh chemicals.

Wipe spills promptly, especially around handles and sinks.

With proper care, your sprayed finish will retain its appearance for many years.

Final Advice: Take your time, view colours in your own space, and choose shades you'll enjoy living with every day.
